

The spa of the Black Forest hamlet of Boll where Nabokov and Shura Sack stayed overnight on their hike from Freiburg to Constance. The spa failed and was later abandoned, and Boll became part of Bonndorf. But in 1925 it still will have been much like on this postcard from 1907. Source: Wikimedia